Macksville Man Injured

Mordica Ketterman, 33, Macksville, was reported in a critical condition in Tucker county hospital this evening, where he was admitted Monday morning after suffering a fractured skull in a fall from a truck.

According to Sheriff O. G. Hovatter, who is investigating the accident, Ketterman and his son Russell, a medically discharged army veteran, thumbed a ride Monday morning on State Route 72 near Hamilton from Delbert Arbogast, attendance officer of Tucker county schools, who was driving a pickup truck at the time.

When they neared Bretz, on U. S. Route 219, Arbogast said, the elder Ketterman, who was riding in the rear of the truck with his son, knocked on the window behind the driver's seat and asked to be let off. Arbogast said he slowed the truck down and heaved a thud. When he stopped the truck and investigated, he found Ketterman lying on the concrete highway.

The injured man's son told Arbogast that his father fell over the side of the truck, but that it happened so quickly that he did not know whether the elderly man tripped or he was trying to climb off the truck, or whether he became dizzy and fell, according to the sheriff.

Arbogast took Ketterman to the hospital in the truck. The investigation is proceeding but no charges have been preferred against Arbogast, Sheriff Hovatter said last night.

Refuge General Increase

A company spokesman said the Kelly company has already corrected intra-plant inequalities through negotiations with the union, but has refused to grant a general wage increase at the present time.

The company official believed the wage situation would work itself out in time and added the Kelly company is not big enough to spearhead an attack on the present wage structure in the rubber industry.

The company official added the company is watching for whatever pattern may be developed and is ready to go along on a rubber industry or general industry policy.

May Meet Today

A company spokesman said he had contacted both Brard and James A. Holden, Federal conciliator who has been assisting in the wage negotiations, and predicted that the company and union will probably get together today.

Union officials said no definite plans have been made for a conference today but added there was a "possibility" that a meeting might be held "if the company had anything to offer."

There was no picketing of the plant and union officials said they believed picketing would not be necessary.

Union officials reported last evening that a few workers reported for work on the 11 o'clock shift but that the men walked out immediately. Sufficient maintenance workers are on duty to protect plant property, union officials added.

Chaney added that no registrants from other boards reported their discharge to Board No. 1.

Clerks reminded that servicemen are permitted to report their discharge from service to any local board in the United States.

Compulsory to Report, however, that it is compulsory for discharged servicemen to report to some board within ten days after being discharged.

While some discharged veterans report to local boards other than those at which they are registered, a majority report back to the board through which they entered service, clerks said.

Petition To Regain Children Rejected By Local Jurists

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

A petition of a Cumberland mother to regain the custody of her two sons now at the home of her mother-in-law yesterday was rejected by a local judge. Judge Walter C. Capper following a hearing in circuit court.

Mrs. Nellie G. Brant, Humbird street, wife of a soldier, Paul Brant, filed the petition against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter Brant, 300 block, Bedford street, charging her sons Paul Jr., aged five, and James Brant, aged four, were "illegally detained" by the defendants.

The mother, represented by Julius F. Schindler, Judge Walter Brant was not allowed to see the children and recently was refused permission to take them to a circus.

Defendants Deny Charges

The defendants denied that she was not allowed to see the children and pointed out that the father has arrived in New York from overseas and soon will be home. Harold E. Naughton, counsel for the defendants, said the mother was associating with a married man and for that reason the soldier's mother was not allowed to see the children. The soldier's wife admitted the accusation but declared:

"He's not a married man now; he got a divorce today."

Bowers Is Paroled

John Walter Bowers, of the Mt. Airy, was given a parole for five years when arraigned before the judges. Indicted by the October term grand jury on three charges of burglary, he entered a plea of guilty when arraigned October 13.

Bowers, 35, rejected counsel when arraigned. He was indicted for theft of a suit case and radio from the home of Mrs. Thomas J. Ward last July 23; a watch from the home of Eugene Tower last July 20, and a razor from the home of John Kozitz the same day.

Under the terms of his parole, Bowers is to refrain from drinking and infractions of the law and is to make restitution to the persons from whom the articles were stolen.

Sentencing of Bowers completed the criminal docket of the October term, with several cases marked "continued." The latter includes an indictment against operators of the Oriole Club on Route 40, six miles west of this city, on charges of selling beer to minors and on Sunday.

Refuge General Increase

A company spokesman said the Kelly company has already corrected intra-plant inequalities through negotiations with the union, but has refused to grant a general wage increase at the present time.

The company official believed the wage situation would work itself out in time and added the Kelly company is not big enough to spearhead an attack on the present wage structure in the rubber industry.

The company official added the company is watching for whatever pattern may be developed and is ready to go along on a rubber industry or general industry policy.

May Meet Today

A company spokesman said he had contacted both Brard and James A. Holden, Federal conciliator who has been assisting in the wage negotiations, and predicted that the company and union will probably get together today.

Union officials said no definite plans have been made for a conference today but added there was a "possibility" that a meeting might be held "if the company had anything to offer."

There was no picketing of the plant and union officials said they believed picketing would not be necessary.

Union officials reported last evening that a few workers reported for work on the 11 o'clock shift but that the men walked out immediately. Sufficient maintenance workers are on duty to protect plant property, union officials added.

'Marital Blind Man' Threatens Home Happiness

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I've been married ten years; am three years older than my husband, and neither one of us has been happy in the ten years. He claims he loves me but he has a funny way of showing it. We have two lovely children.

His job takes him out of town and he's away most of the time. When he does have a day off, he gives the car to his 15-year-old brother so he can go dancing, but he never thinks of showing me an occasional good time. I am at home all the time. When I'm sick, he makes me angry, and he doesn't do a thing for me. He won't even do things around the house which are man's work, such as repairing the screen-door, fixing a leaky faucet, etc.

Do you suppose it's because I am older? But then he knew that when he married me. He loves the children very much. He wants me there to do the cooking, and if I ever mention leaving him, he makes desperate threats of violence. What do you think of such a man?

E.R.
Your husband comes under the heading of "marital blind man" a name one of my correspondents apply called her husband who treated her much as yours does. It's a pity when a married man fails to realize that in accepting a wife as an unpaid servant instead of a companion, he is the home, the children, lose all along the line.

A happy wife never counts the cost of doing all those things which my rich matrimonial dividends. No, don't think his neglect is due to the fact you're a little older. He's just selfish and too blind to see that he's working against his own advantage. I would be a great mistake for you to take any violent treatment from him. That sort of thing is fatal for children to see.

Was To Return to Wife
Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 3 years of age, have been married seven years, and we have 10 children. I've been separated from my wife for over a year. I want to go back to her, but the only thing she thinks about is a good time. We'd been living with her folks, but I want to get an apartment to ourselves. However, she always has the excuse she can't leave her parents.

What do you suggest? Shall I beg with her entirely, or try to reason with her again?

A.C.
Your letter, all of which I am not going, contains several contradictions. If you've been away from your wife for a year, what chance did she have for including you in the crack-up of household utensils or knife-flourishing?

If your conduct has been entirely blameless, as you write, and you still love your wife devotedly, then why not, as you suggest, reason with her and see if she will consent to go with you to the apartment you have in mind? But if she persists in ignoring the solemn promises made in her marriage vows of "forsaking all others," which includes her parents, you'll be entirely justified in consulting a lawyer or the legal aid society concerning your case.

Another Delay Comes In Reconversion

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S effort to compromise the wage-price situation, which has got clear out of bounds with strikes paralyzing industry all over the country, is disappointing in that it means another delay in the already too long delayed reconversion transition.
It means that the idea of increasing wages by holding price ceilings except where they can be proved as justified in certain industries must be tested out before it can be determined whether it will bring about the fundamental necessity of increased production. That will take time, and in the reconversion transition time is of the essence.

There is reasonable doubt that wages can be increased as desired and production stimulated without a more general price advance. It seems almost impossible to raise wages any given per cent and continue to maintain prices at the present levels. Price boosts will, of course, have an inflationary effect. But, on the other hand, a stalled production will have the same effect because the scarcity of needed goods will be increased and that will mean pushing prices into the black market, where too many of them already are.

Industry in general is in a fairly strong position as a result of war production, but by a rather close margin. It was the purpose of the Roosevelt administration to prevent excessive profits in war production and the objective was fairly successful both by holding both prices and wages, and by means of the excess profits taxes and renegotiation. Hence the question arises whether industry can from its resources provide for any general wage advance at the same price levels excepting where allowable under the president's directives.
If industry in general cannot do it, production will be stalled. If that happens, there will be an inevitable inflationary trend because scarcity will push available goods further into the black market or halt buying, and when buying is halted the chief stimulus to production will be removed. It all seems like trying to lift one's self with the bootstraps except in certain instances of well-entrenched business that will have a governmental resting place on which to lean.

It has been the belief of this newspaper that price controls should be maintained in various lines until such time as scarcity is alleviated, which means, of course, until production can get under way. But it now looks as if the key to the whole business is the removal of all price controls in order to let free enterprise operate and thus bring prices down through competition. The administration wants to retain for an indefinite period the wartime powers under which price controls are continued.

To clothe the chief executive with such continuing powers of regulation for an indefinite period could mean but one thing, namely, that Americans have despaired of continuing under the traditional form of government and had joined the totalitarianism led by Russia, and most recently joined by the British.

Such a course emphasizes the oldest story in the history of all governments—that powers once delegated as these war powers were delegated by Congress—are easy to give away but very difficult to recover. Nevertheless, it is plain that this country needs to be relieved of wartime controls at the earliest possible moment in order to allow the normal factors in the American economy to begin functioning and to allow the competitive process to get under way. Americans who understand how industry is organized and how it functions much prefer, in the opinion of this newspaper, to take whatever chances there may be of economic difficulties, with all wartime restrictions off, than to embrace the certainty that if these controls are left on for another indefinite period, American freedom will be lost.

It is to be hoped that the scheme to boost wages and hold price controls in general can work out, but it is difficult to perceive how it can except in the certain large well-fortified industries. Other industries just cannot accomplish the impossible of granting wage increases without a corresponding increase of income through production. Production costs are inescapable and if they go up to the point where industry receives no profit, the inescapable result will be that industry will have to quit.

All in all the answer seems to lie in two things—full production and competition. Neither can be achieved if the restraints are insuperable. It is not to be denied that living costs have risen and it is only fair that wage earners be given some kind of break to meet them. But the means of providing it must be furnished, else the economic chaos in which we have been weltering will not be corrected, and industry will be stalemated and reconversion stalled.

Japs Can Kiss Their Silk Trade Good-bye

REPORTS from Tokyo say that a large stock of raw silk is available in Japan for export. A few years back this would have been glad news for the women of America and would have represented a nice bit of trade for the Japanese. But times have changed and it is not likely that the United States will take much of what the Japs have to offer.
From seventy to eighty per cent of the silk imported from Japan used to go into hosiery for women. But now, in view of the superiority of nylon hose, silk stockings are believed to be on their last legs, figuratively and literally. Even though the American women still can't buy the nylon hose she ardently covets,

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Democrats Oppose Full Employment Bill And It Has No Chance, Pearson Says

BY DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Harry Truman would be surprised to know that the best support he is getting for the Full Employment bill in the House Executive Expenditures Committee is from a Republican. He is red-haired Charles LaPiette, of Evansville, Ind. No relation to the late progressive senator, young Charlie follows his principles and has been battling away for the bill, despite fierce opposition from the ranking Democrats.

Last week President Truman called the committee chairman, Carter Manasco, of Alabama, and William Whittington, of Mississippi, to the White House and begged them to get behind the bill.
But here is what happened: When they went back to the committee, both argued against the bill just as before. The morning after his White House visit, Manasco even read to the committee several sections from the Soviet constitution. Sarcasmically, he remarked: "If we pass the Full Employment bill, we might as well pass this, too."

Observers on Capitol Hill say the Full Employment bill, as Truman outlined it, doesn't have a chance of getting out of the House committee. The only Democrat who speaks up vigorously for it is Alexander Resa, a freshman congressman from Illinois and a former law school professor in Chicago.

Auto Strike Eases
While no public announcements have been made, Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach has made encouraging reports to the White House regarding the threatened strikes in the auto industry.

One important factor in behind-the-scenes negotiations is the intense competition between the three big motor producers—Ford, General Motors, and Chrysler. As long as the three do not stick together in a last-ditch fight against the United Auto Workers, the chances for settlement are reasonably good. For none of the "Big Three" wants to see his plant shut down by a costly revealed the quality of his mind: "I have opposed dogmatism all my life, and think for a military man it can be a fatal mental disease."

U. S. SENATOR ALBERT B. CHANDLER, of Kentucky, is shown packing his personal papers as he prepared to leave the Senate to devote full time to his post as baseball's high commissioner. In a farewell speech Chandler advocated fortifying Alaska against dangers of the atomic era.

Competent Authority
But if there are none who can answer all the problems, there are some who have special equipment to answer specific ones. Where these exist, they are the best recourse available for average citizens who realize their own lack of adequate equipment for judgment. One question is the degree to which in the light of our world responsibility, we should preserve military strength. This problem does not stand alone, it cannot be answered as if it were in a vacuum; it must be answered in the light of the other problems to which it is related. On this problem, Gen. Marshall is a competent authority. About this, he does not lack confidence of judgment. He states his opinion, strongly and clearly:

For the moment, in a widespread emotional crisis of the American people, demobilization has become, in effect, disintegration, not only of the armed forces but apparently of all conception of world responsibility and what it demands of us.

We went through this same experience, demobilization that becomes disintegration, after the First World War. Congress enacted the Defense act of 1920, it provided for an army of 270,000. But hardly before "the president's signature on the act" and dried, it was emasculated by an appropriation measure which reduced the army to 100,000. Later it was reduced to 130,000. (In reciting this experience, Gen. Marshall does not mention the navy, as to which our reduction of strength was even greater.)

Respect a Factor
Gen. Marshall, having an exact mind, does not deal in "ifs." He does not say what many reasonably hold, that had we maintained moderate military strength during twenty years following the Great War, the cost to us, even measured in money alone, would have been only a fraction of what it cost to fight the recent war. Gen. Marshall goes so far as to say: "Respect, it is true, is an intangible; but consider what it would have meant to us in tan-gibles had we commanded the military respect of Germany, Italy and Japan in 1939."

It is not that Gen. Marshall contemplates war, he contemplates the prevention of war. He believes in a world order based on co-operation, states eloquently his faith that this will come. He believes in the United Nations organization. But "I personally am convinced that the organization has not even a remote chance of success unless it is nourished by the strength and fiber of the United States. Obviously if we have no manifest strength, the nourishment of the United Nations organization will be lean."

Speedy Action Urged
Finally: "If we are to nourish the infant United Nations organization, and thus establish some possibility of a future decent world order, definite measures must be taken immediately to determine at least the basic principles for our postwar military policy. I have never felt so certain of anything in my life."

And again: "The military establishment cannot hope to insure the safety of the United States very much longer at the present rate of demobilization unless some permanent peacetime program is established, and at an early date."
Gen. Marshall's address is more closely reasoned than can be even faintly illustrated by what is here quoted. The decision before the American people is whether, on a question that is important in itself and is indissolubly associated with most of our other problems, including the attainment of peace and its preservation, they shall accept the judgment of the man who not only gave them brilliant military leadership, but has capacity for profound thought about practical attainment of the objectives for which the war was fought.

Congress Reflects Wishes of People, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Thirty-five years ago today this correspondent wrote to the national capital to write about public affairs. Being 21 years of age and just out of college, it was natural perhaps that a bit of cynicism about government should at first have crept into his mind.
Today, in recollection over the years, the one thing that stands out more clearly than any other is an abiding faith in the representative system of government. The American people like to criticize their institutions and even go so far as to satirize them, but the public men, but a close observation of the trends of opinion and of the ups and downs of legislative controversies over the thirty-five years leads to the conclusion that the government is responsive to public desires. Congress is in reality far more representative of the public wish than is generally believed.

Marshall's Advice On Armed Strength Is Held Weighty

By MARK SULLIVAN
This week General of the Army George C. Marshall, at the New York Herald-Tribune Forum, addressed the American people on one of the many problems that deeply trouble them. So complex are these that guidance about them, even right upon them, is not easily available. This difficulty of arriving at confident conclusions was emphasized by Gen. Marshall himself. The disavowal of dogmatism which pervaded his address is a part of the modesty and temperateness which has led to the very high opinion of him that is held by persons who otherwise are his close.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE
I was all set for Halloween last year! I rigged up a booby trap on my door that would dump a pail of water on anyone who messed with it. . . . and within ten minutes some poor doer walked right in! But I managed to get my suit dried off in time for supper.

I threw a Halloween party in the evening that was quite a success. It was a costume affair. Frank Langford came dressed as a beautiful girl and was escorted by Skinnay Ennis, who made a wonderful boom! I dressed up like Little Red Riding Hood, but it was a mistake. I walked past the corner of Hillwood and Vine as was chased for four miles.
This is the season when people go around saying, "the frost is on the pumpkin," but it's not very nice of them. I just have a few grey hairs! . . . The "frost is on the pumpkin" is an eastern expression. This time of the year in California people go around saying, "The midwest is on the grapefruit!"
Some soldiers from Camp Cooke dropped in on the party. I won't say they were anxious to get their girls to play last office, but they were only ones who came dressed as mailboxes.

While we were ducking for apples, someone tripped a dime a time tub. . . . But I took them only two minutes to get the water out of my lungs.
I decided to take a horrible monster to frighten people, so I put a couple of blankets over a broomstick and stuck a pumpkin on the end for a head. But it didn't work. One of those jockeys kept following it around trying to copy it back into the street.
(Copyright, 1945, Rex Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Irresponsibility often becomes the forerunner of responsibility. The evolution of press criticism has been toward greater and greater responsibility and, in the last analysis, an informed opinion is the best assurance of the continuance of representative government.
This is an anniversary on which the world may appear a more optimistic about the future of representative government in America, but the optimism is but of a repeated experience which has proved that legislative proposals and laws have rarely been as good as their critics said they were and often better than their authors ever ventured to claim.

One Man of Four Who Held No. 158 in Draft Entered Service

Five years ago Monday four Allegany county men expected to be called almost any day for military service.

They held No. 158, the first number drawn in the draft lottery October 29, 1940, but a glance at the records in the four Selective Service boards in the county yesterday disclosed that only one of the four men was called to the colors.

The other three were deferred for various reasons. And, in fact, it was not until May 8, 1944, that the fourth man finally was inducted.

He is Ralph Thomas Skelly, Cresaptown, who is still in service. Skelly entered the army from Local Board No. 3 and at last reports was stationed at a camp in Florida.

The other three men, who did not get into service, are John Jacob Pfeiffer, Baltimore Pike, of Local Board No. 1; William Christopher Twig, 215 Dexter place, of Local Board No. 2; and Joseph Henry Cesana, Mt. Savage, of Local Board No. 4, Frostburg.

Highway Worker Is Fatally Injured

Bedford, Pa., Oct. 31.—McKinley (Max) Berkey, 44, of Schellburg, died yesterday at Timmins Hospital from injuries sustained last Friday when he was struck by an automobile on the Lincoln Highway at Grandview Point, west of Bedford.

Berkey, an employee of the State Highway Department, was working on a road project when hit by a car operated by Rev. Andrew S. Kuharsky, 47, of St. Clair, Pa., according to State Police of the local detail.

Officers said that the clergyman reported that he lost control of his machine when his brakes failed to hold on the mountain grade. The car swerved to the left side of the highway, struck Berkey and then careened back to the right and into a guard rail.

The road worker sustained severe head injuries and fractures of both legs. Coroner Vernon Geisel of Alum Bank, said an inquest into the fatality will be held, probably next week.

Mr. Berkey was born in Somerset county on January 5, 1901, a son of the late Joseph and Fannie Berkey. He is survived by his widow, the former Elsie Miller, a brother and three sisters.

One Passenger Boards Plane for Baltimore

The only passenger to take advantage of the second commercial flight of Columbia Airlines from Cumberland to Baltimore yesterday was the Rev. Francis J. Egan, former pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, Mt. Savage.

The ten-passenger plane arrived at the Cumberland municipal airport at 10:25 a. m. yesterday and took off fifteen minutes later. No passengers got off the ship here.

Yesterday afternoon's flight was called off because of the threat of bad weather.

RAILWAY WORKERS SIGN CONTRACT

A contract between Western Maryland Railway and the Railroad Workers Industrial Union was signed in Hagerstown, Monday, according to Elmer Davis, field representative of District 50, United Mine Workers of America.

The working agreement covers the 500 engineers, firemen and hostlers of the railroad. The contract, effective December 1, will run indefinitely.

Wage proposals, now pending before the Railway Mediation Board, will be incorporated into the contract when approved, Davis added.

Building Permits Issued

Two building permits were granted in the city engineer's office yesterday.

Mrs. Evelyn Settle was granted a permit to enclose a portion of the rear porches at a double house at 1301 and 1315 Virginia avenue for use as pantries. The additions will be one story high with frame walls, and each will measure six by six feet. Cost of construction is estimated at $100.

Charles W. Hanzrote, 29 Weber street, was granted a permit to build a rear porch at his home, at an estimated cost of $100. The porch will be one story high with frame walls, and will measure five by ten feet.

Between 300,000,000 and 350,000,000 pairs of shoes are manufactured in the United States annually in great times.

Bond Rally Will Follow "Follies"

At the bond rally following the "Faculty Follies of 1945," to be given tonight in the Fort Hill High School auditorium at 8:15, a number of articles will be offered for auction.

The list includes a linoleum rug, a bridge set, six cans of peaches, a camera, one quart of milk daily for a month, flashlight with batteries, bedroom lamp, inner tubes, cakes, and a lady's jumper.

LISTEN WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson
(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

There is no peace. So now we have peace. Don't kid yourself. There is no peace. The source of this mischievous delusion is the fact that so few of us know the truth about peace. We think peace is a normal, natural condition of mankind; the way he was intended to live. Phooey! There is no peace in nature. Go out and look at your garden—take a walk through the woods. Sit on a convenient curbstone and watch a bunch of children at play. Then dare to think honestly about what you have seen without prejudice or sentimental fiddle-faddle. Where do you find peace? The answer is—yourself.

Wherever you go, whether it be in the heart of a great "civilized" city along the trail of a primeval jungle, nowhere will you find warfare. Struggle and strife, conflict and competition, these are the laws of life. Without the struggle, fierce and incessant, there can be no growth, no progress, no life.

That seems a ruthless rule but if you can't take ruthless rules, your number's up. They are the basis of all existence. Look at a clump of wild grass—or a cathedral. Behind them both looms the shadow of the Cross. Each blade must fight and die and be born again for the right to live. Each man must do the same. A baby fights from the day it's born wailing into this difficult world. It struggles to know itself, to find its own hands and feet—to develop teeth—to learn to walk and talk. And in a larger measure every adult does the same, facing the problem before him—tackling the challenge, sorting out the values of this thing we call civilization. And most of us grow weak and drained in the struggle and may die of it long before they are buried. But it need not be so if we are taught the truth about peace while we are still young enough to receive that truth. But instead we are taught a lot of garbled gaga-sweetened pap. We are led to believe that peace is our rightful heritage. We are told that peace means tranquility, security, calm.

No greater con game was ever perpetrated than this sales talk on peace. Peace doesn't mean sweet safety for any of us. Safety is the deadliest danger the human soul can know. Safety robs even a carrot. Let any living thing, vegetable or animal, experience complete protection and you have a dead duck. TRUE SAFETY MEANS ADJUSTMENT TO THE RHYTHM AND HARMONY OF LIFE AND IT CAN ONLY COME WHEN WE LEARN HOW TO FLOW WITH LIFE. And sometimes that calls for a whale of a scrap—a battle for all that man holds dear and fair. And sometimes—though rarely—it means a brief breathing spell. But always it must mean—living. Always you must be willing to be alive and work with life or you will never know real peace. For peace is not the reward for cowards or compromisers. Life has no place for such, no battle crosses, no stars. Peace is only for those who dare to fight—and keep on fighting. I think we have never needed to face this truth as much as now when we are all weary of fighting, all yearning for the "good old days" that seemed so blessed in comparison. But actually the "good old days" were never any more safe nor sweeter than they are today. We have always had to prove our right to live. There are no free lunch counters in the natural plan. Christ himself had to kneel in Gethsemane and climb Golgotha. This is no breathing spell, pardners. There is plenty of kneeling and climbing ahead for us all. And we had better resign ourselves to the fact. (Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MAE PRUITT... Egg taster

AP Newsfeatures
LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Mae Pruitt is a new member of the Guinea Pig Club at Purdue University—a club distinguished by having the best taste on the campus.

Two years ago Miss Pruitt and forty-five other girls took on a job for the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps. Because of their sensitivity to the taste of eggs, they were chosen to taste egg samples to determine just how much each batch appealed to the palate. Of the forty-six girls, Miss Pruitt and four others survived after tasting 20,000 samples. As a reward for the tasty task, they have been made members, officially, of the Quartermaster Corps Guinea Pig Club, and have received fancy certificates which read:

"Because you have now tasted and tested our grub You've become a 'full' pledge of our Guinea Pig Club. By the use of the spoon you have brightened the light For the search for those foods that help soldiers to fight. ## WHY Civilians Can Gobble Thanksgiving Turkey

By JERRY TRAGER
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—The turkey is expected to make a comeback this year as America's traditional Thanksgiving bird.

Last year the turkey was missing at many civilian Thanksgiving meals because of military needs, labor shortages, and other wartime factors.

This year's turkey crop is estimated at 44,150,000 birds, twenty-two per cent more than a year ago and forty-four per cent more than the ten-year average.

E. D. Heaton, Secretary of the Institute of American Poultry Industries, reports "plenty of turkey and chicken will be available for the 1945 Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners."

The army has first call on the fowl through set-aside orders for servicemen's holiday dinners. However, GI requirements will be smaller than in preceding war years. To make sure that GIs get their festive fare, the government decreed last spring that all turkeys in twenty-one major producing states in the Midwest and Far West and in five counties in Virginia and four in West Virginia, should be held for the military services until they had an adequate supply.

DINNER GUEST—Mr. Turkey is due to make a comeback.

This was the third consecutive year that the government banned civilian sales until the armed forces' larders were stocked. Last year its order prohibiting turkey sales in twenty-four states until armed service needs had been filled was lifted November 5 and a similar one was terminated in 1943 on October 25.

There will be plenty of chickens, too, on hand for a civilian Thanksgiving. Eastern areas, where heavy broilers are grown, report surplus birds, and the recent suspension of government controls on its chicken procurement program has directed more fowl to civilian channels.

City Backs Bills For State Action

Bills which authorize the city to sell $250,000 worth of water bonds and give the mayor and city council power to levy not more than ninety cents for general expenses instead of the present seventy-five cents have been approved by the council.

The measure, which will be presented at the special session of the general assembly next Monday, will be forwarded immediately to Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor so that they may be submitted to the attorney general. The council will meet with the Allegheny county delegation Friday at 7 p. m. to discuss the proposed acts.

Under the first bill, money from the water bond issue could be used to construct an auxiliary water line to the city to erect a sedimentation basin and to make an addition to the filtration plant. The council already has power to sell a $500,000 issue but it is claimed more money will be needed as costs have risen sharply.

The city has authority to levy ninety cents for general expenses now under a wartime act which expires six months after the official termination of the war. The proposed bill would make the authority permanent.

Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich, who proposed Monday that the city seek authority for legalized gambling, suggested that the subject might be brought up for discussion at Friday's conference with the legislators.

Red Cross Appoints New Vice Chairman

Nicholson has served the Red Cross for more than a quarter of a century. Prior to his present appointment he was vice chairman in charge of the American Junior Red Cross.

Civil Service To Favor
Disabled Veterans

A recent executive order signed by President Truman authorizes the United States Civil Service Commission to confer a competitive classified civil service status upon disabled veterans who are now employed in a civilian status by the federal government.

The order will allow veterans to hold their present jobs and will lead to permanent status after veterans now serving under war service appointments, qualify in future examinations.

Hardy County Has Not Reached Its War Fund Quota

Campaign Will Be Extended Officially until November 10

By KATHERINE FISHER
MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 31.—With some reports to come in yet, Chairman Raymond S. Dispanet reports $2,247.19 in the War Fund drive which ended officially Monday. This is $652.81 short of the $2,900 goal for the county.

Dispanet hopes the quota can be reached and the campaign closed by November 10. If, however, the quota is reached before that time, the campaign will close.

In stressing the importance of the campaign, he wishes to remind the citizens that even though the war is over, about eight million American men and women are still in uniform and about four million of them still out of the United States. About 250,000 are in hospitals throughout the world. Disease and starvation faces millions of people in countries that were our allies. For all these the war is not over.

Reports by zones as received to date:

Moorefield, $948.77; Fisher, Rig, Kessel, $30.85; Durgon, $62; Old Fields, Plats, $92.68; South Fork, $7; Needmore, Baker, Lost River, Lost City, $302.20; Wardensville and Capon, $326.50; Mathias, $157.55; Fort Run, $20.40.

Committee Is Chosen

A county committee was selected to have charge of the Hardy County Red Cross and to work in conjunction with the county chairman at a meeting held in the court house Thursday night of last week.

The committee was composed of Mrs. W. J. Teets, Moorefield; Howard Moyers, Mathias; Mrs. Maurice Beall, Wardensville; Mrs. Henry Hawse, Lost River; Carl S. Welton, South Fork; Mrs. Martin Huffman, Old Fields; Tom Gerard, Bean Settlement; and John T. St. Clair, chairman.

The committee will hold a meeting in the office of the chairman Wednesday, November 7, for the purpose of appointing officers and

Mrs. H. S. Pownall, chairman of production for the Hardy county chapter of the American Red Cross, is requesting that all maroon sweaters be completed and brought in by November 10.

Mrs. Pownall is anxious to have volunteers for knitting and sewing. There is a great deal of khaki yarn to be knitted into sweaters and there is need for sewers of dresses, bed sheets, shirts and other garments.

Demonstration Planned

The bride wore a blue suit with black accessories for her wedding. Pvt. Rumer attended the Moorefield high school before he was inducted into the service. At present he is stationed at Fort George G. Meade.

For the time being, Mrs. Rumer will live with Mrs. Adam Rumer.

Leatherman Buys Estate

Albert R. Leatherman purchased from W. A. Judy his estate of about 2,800 acres at Fort Seymourt, Pendleton county. The estate consists of several farms and about 8,000,000 feet of the finest virgin timber ever grown in this country.

Leatherman owns a large farm in Old Fields and has extensive holdings in Ritchie county.

P-T-A Carnival

A large crowd enjoyed the Halloween carnival sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association at the graded school building Monday evening and the P-T-A realized $200. This was a joint high school and graded school affair and the parents and teachers of both schools helped make the carnival a success.

The entertainments included a music show, an art gallery, a fish pond and food sale.

Ducks and Geese Are Plentiful in Maryland

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31. (AP)—A record number of wild ducks and geese will greet Maryland hunters along the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries after Friday's season opening, State Game Warden Ernest A. Vaughn said today.

He added that this is the earliest migration seen here in a number of years.

Mallards, blackheads, pintails, and other species are more abundant on the eastern shore than in the past ten years, Vaughn said.

The only dampener in the general situation is the relative scarcity of ammunition—and the outlook for more isn't good.

Rode out to the Jenkins farm the other day—and there was young Charlie Jenkins—two months out of uniform—driving a tractor as pretty as could be with his one good arm.

"I expect you find that pretty dull after piloting a bomber," I suggested.

Charlie gives me a wide, contented grin. "Dull?" he says. "All the time I was over Germany I dreamt of this—the smell of hay, and the hot sun on my back... and coming home to women's voices in the farmhouse, and home cooking, and a friendly glass of beer. No," he says dreamily, "not dull!"

From where I sit, that's how lots of returning veterans must feel. Yearning for excitement? No, just mighty glad to be back with the old familiar things, the day's work, the rewards of home, companionship, and simple pleasures like a friendly glass of beer. No... not dull.

What AMINOS in hospitals teach us about MEAT at home

Read the menus for any of the service convalescent hospitals, and you'll find the word "MEAT" running through them, day in and day out—for breakfast, for dinner, for supper.

Take a look at the menu at Great Lakes, for example, and you'll see that the amounts of meat are generous. Here is Corporal Charles W. Allman of the Fifth Marines, Colby, Wis., wounded at Okinawa, getting his nontime meal with plenty of good juicy meat in it.

All this is because wartime medical science has demonstrated that, given plenty of meat, men suffering from wounds, burns, starvation or infections, recover faster.

The secret of meat's restorative power lies in "the amazing amino" (a-mee-nos)—those mysterious substances in the proteins we eat which our bodies use to build and rebuild our tissues, organs, blood and infection-fighting antibodies.

What do those amino acids in hospitals teach us about meat at home? Just this:

Children cannot grow and adults cannot rebuild tissues (which wear out constantly in the process of living) without the amino acids of protein foods. Our blood cannot be regenerated—our resistance to many infections cannot be maintained unless we obtain them.

Twenty-two amino acids have been isolated. Ten of them are known to be essential. Without them, life is not possible.

The protein of meat has all ten of the essential amino acids; is rich in them. If we have a generous amount of meat in our diets, we can be assured of getting the amino acids we need.

You may have thought it was hunger for the good flavor of meat that prompted your desire for it. But isn't it more likely that it was the hunger of your body for those essential amino acids that instinctively guided you?

Injured LaSalle Players Recover For Friday Game

Mattingly, Borden Slated To Play at Stadium against Ft. Ashby

LaSalle high school's football team will be strengthened for tomorrow's game with Fort Ashby when Bob Mattingly and Yates Borden return to the lineup. Coach John J. Long announced yesterday.

Pullback Mattingly, the Explorers' leading scorer and ground gainer, had been out of the Fort Hill and Allegany games due to injuries while Borden, left tackle, failed to get into last Friday's game with Allegany on account of illness.

Eddie Malloy, quarterback, and topnotch passer, will be unable to play tomorrow on account of injuries received in the Fort Hill contest October 19.

"I'm not certain whether I'll start Mattingly and Borden," Coach Long declared, "but they'll be in the game."

Clash for First Time

Tomorrow night's contest, scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, will mark the first meeting of LaSalle and Fort Ashby on the gridiron. The fall sport was introduced at the Mineral county school last year by Ben Simoncelli, and after he left to accept coaching duties at another school Thomas Small, of Piedmont, took over the reins.

Officials will be "Bobby" Cavanaugh, referee, Ed Milbrada, umpire, and Bill Spangler, head linesman.

A play-by-play description of the game will be given over the public address system at the stadium by Arthur G. Ramey, who has been at the "mic" in the six games played by LaSalle at home to date.

Allegany Hits the Road

Fort Hill has an open date this week but Allegany is preparing for its CVA League contest with Martinsburg high school's Bulldogs in Martinsburg, W. Va., Saturday.

An important Potomac Valley Conference contest on tomorrow's schedule is that between Coach Fred Clark's Keyser high school Golden Tornado and John Paugh's Moorefield Yellowjackets at 2 p. m. in Keyser.

Coach Arthur Scall's Ridgeley Blackhawks journey to Romney tomorrow to battle it out with Dick McElwee's Romney highlanders.

Bedford high school's undefeated and untied Bisons will be gunning for their ninth straight triumph when they lock horns with Shade Township high of Cairnbrook, Pa., tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Bedford. This will be the Buffaloes' final game before they come to Cumberland to play LaSalle on Saturday, November 17.

Pimlico Futurity Value Is Boosted

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31. (AP)—The Maryland Jockey Club announced today that the value of three major stakes to be run at the current meeting had been boosted substantially including an increase of from $15,000 to $25,000 added for the Pimlico Futurity, one of the most important fall engagements for juveniles, to be run November 24.

The others are the Marguerite, for two-year-old fillies at a mile and a sixteenth, from $7,500 to $15,000 added, on November 17; and the Heiser handicap, November 7, a six-furlong event for horses of all ages foaled in Maryland, from $7,500 to $10,000 added. The Futurity is a mile and a sixteenth.

Henry A. Parr III, Pimlico president, said that effective November 1 many overnight races and sleepers, as well as the increased, bringing the total purse distribution at the 35-day meeting to more than $1,000,000 highest in the history of the course.

Flyers Tie Hornets

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31. (AP)—The last-place St. Louis Flyers, making their first appearance under the new leadership of Ralph "Bouncer" Taylor held the fast-skating Pittsburgh Hornets to a 3-3 tie tonight in an American Hockey League game.

It was Klosterman's second decision triumph of the evening, he having outpointed Jim Cecil, of Cresaptown, in the semi-finals. The photograph on the right shows Jimmy Williams, 135, colored, right, and Bobby Porter locked in combat in the second round of their

Baseball Leaders May Feud over Cut On Titular Fight

Giants and Yanks Split Rentals for Football but Not Boxing

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—There's a feud a-brewin', partner, between Larry MacPhail and happy Horace Stoneham over just how the Yankees and Giants would cut up the rent from Uncle Mike Jacobs for the Joe Louis-Billy Conn bout partly next June.

Seems that the two clubs have always split rentals from fights and college football down the middle, no matter which ball park was the battle pit. But professional football was a horse from a different garage. The New York grid Giants always have had the rent for themselves. Naturally, laughing Larry wouldn't mind getting a piece of that, if it could be worked out.

From what you hear around and about now, laughing Larry expects to be the landlord at Yankee stadium when Uncle Mike trots out Joe and Billy in June. Uncle Mike, of course, is still giving off about the possibility that Philadelphia, Chicago or Detroit may be the spot, but insiders insist the way matters stand now the Bomber and the pretty boy will do their nose-mashing no further than a subway ride from Times square.

Larry has told Stoneham that he considers the agreement between the Yanks and Giants on fight rentals to be slightly worn out now. The Louis-Conn clambake figures to draw up there around the nine per cent rental "take"—a $2,000,000 at the gate, anyway, and mere $180,000—makes a neat apple to cut. Happy Horace realizes that.

One guy, who's supposed to be "in on the know" in such things, tells you the fight may even be "chased" out of New York if this rhubarb gets too bad.

Rice Presents $1,000 Question: Just How Good Is Notre Dame?

Is the Passer or Receiver More Valuable?—Rates Gilmer with Best

By GRANTLAND RICE

If you are looking for the answer to football's $1,000 question this week, it belongs in the following line: "How Good Is Notre Dame?" For in the next two weeks, Notre Dame meets Navy and Army on successive Saturdays, her two major opponents, the two opponents who turned the South Bend simoon into a faint zephyr just a year ago.

Notre Dame will not have to be any whirlwind to beat the Navy team I saw last Saturday at Franklin field. For this was a ragged, inept Navy squad, floundering most of the way until Pennsylvania finally tossed the game into Navy arms, after outplaying Navy through 50 of the 60 minutes allotted for game time.

But the question still remains: "Just how good is Notre Dame?" Hugh Devore's squad, after losing two of its best men, center and fullback, barely got by Illinois 7 to 0. Her best game was against Georgia Tech, a pretty good team beat on 40 to 7. But after this last test crippled Dartmouth, Pittsburgh and Iowa have all been setups, offering no competition worth considering. These have been games that gave no line on Notre Dame's real strength.

Opposition Has Been Poor With Boley Danciewicz at quarter, the best T man in the country handling a team. Notre Dame has moved far beyond its starting point in September. It has been ranked with Alabama back of Army's invincibles, and it may be just that good. But its opposition through the last three weeks has been so poor that head coach Devore has used his regulars only a small part of the time in each game. It has been a matter of trying to keep down the score.

Navy will be a different matter at Cleveland on Saturday. Here has been a badly disorganized squad of good football players—Bob Kelly, Clyde Scott, Captain Duden, Hunchy Hoernschmeyer, Williams, Minick, Bramlett, Bruce Smith—on and on. Here are many good football players who so far have never jelled or clicked in trying to put over the T.

Individually this team can be dangerous. But it has yet to prove that it is a team. Navy has no man on its squad as valuable as Danciewicz. It has no team strength to compare with what Notre Dame has shown against weaker opposition.

Navy has the skill and the power and the speed and spirit of the individual, and nothing else, so far. And this is no fault of coach Swede Hagberg, removed from brilliant submarine duty to face career coaches who have been on the job for years. The fault here goes straight back to the Naval Academy, not to its coaching staff.

The Passer or the Receiver? Who is the more valuable member of the forward passing combination—the passer or the receiver? We took this problem to several coaches and they all voted in favor of the passer—Sammy Baugh, Sid Luckman, Harry Gilmer and a few more. But suppose we check back just a bit. Playing with Alabama, Dixie Howell was given main credit for his brilliant passing to Don Hutson. "Howell made Hutson," they told me. Then Hutson moved to Green Bay and it was Arnie Herber who helped to make Hutson. "Take Herber away," they said, "and where will Hutson be?"

So they take Herber away and Cecil Isbell comes along. And there is Hutson still breaking up ball games. Now we have Dixie Howell, Herber and Isbell, who all helped to make Hutson a great pass receiver. They all pass on through the gate and a passer by the name of Irv Comp steps in after Hutson has announced his retirement. So what happens? In Green Bay's first two games Hutson made catches from Comp that completed or set up seven touchdowns.

Hutson was the main factor in running up forty-one points against Detroit's Lions on nine successive plays. Taking passes from Comp, the same Hutson, after his second retirement, has known his best year, leading the pro league so far as a scoring ace that no one else is even close. Apparently all that Hutson asks is that some passer throw the ball in the same park where he happens to be spending an afternoon. And this has been going on for over ten years.

Gilmer Rated High As far as passers go we have received a considerable number of highly vituperative letters because we compared Harry Gilmer of Alabama with Baugh and Luckman.

We still stand pat in his last four big games for 1945—Duke, L.S.U., Tennessee and Georgia. Gilmer has thrown thirteen touchdown passes, with almost as many others that set up touchdowns, including five interceptions. Outside of that he does the kicking, a big part of the running and a bigger part of the tackling.

This is merely a matter of personal opinion. He is at least the top artist that we have seen so far in throwing a football, when it comes to the matter of skill, class, poise, quickness and lack of effort. Which reminds us that several Navy followers have been indignant because we rated the speed of Glenn Davis over Clyde Scott. Davis is still fast enough in our book, including the rest of the field. If there has ever been a faster ball carrier than Davis we haven't seen him in the last forty years.

Blackhawks Win, 5-1

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks, concentrating their power in the first and third periods, tonight defeated the New York Rangers, 5 to 1, before a crowd of 18,877, the largest National Hockey League opening game crowd in hockey history in Chicago.

Undeclared and unscored on in three W. M. I. League games played thus far, Beall high school's soccer team will invade Westernport to play Coach John Grindle's Bruce booters today at 4 p. m.

It will be the first of two league games between the schools this week. Coach Finzel's eleven is scheduled to play host to Bruce on Friday in Frostburg.

The Westernport team's league record is three wins and one defeat.

Hockey Results

Pittsburgh 3, St. Louis 3 (tie). Chicago 5, New York Rangers 1.

HE MAKES 'EM BY DROP KICK

NOTRE DAME'S point-after-touchdown ace, Stanley Krivik, Polish junior fullback, does his kicking by the old-style drop kick method and does it very good, too. Krivik, who won a midget at Fordham in 1940, was recently discharged from the army air corps and while in service was shot down five times.

Mixon's Fishing Hole, East of Cumberland, Is Stocked with Catfish

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31. (AP)—About 2,000 white catfish were placed today in Cumberland's Battle Mixon fishing hole by the state game and inland fish commission. Frank L. Bentz, administrative assistant of fisheries, announced.

He said fishermen have used the eight-mile "hole" extensively throughout the summer and the added catfish stock was expected to result in an increase of angler's activities.

The catfish stocked in the old C. & O. canal east of Cumberland were from six to ten inches in length.

Chicago's Bears Learn It Doesn't Pay To Be Polite

Most Penalized Pro Team of Past Seasons Is Tame This Year

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—The once-mighty Chicago Bears are learning it doesn't pay to be polite in National Football League skirmishing.

The Bears, whose rough-and-tumble tactics when they ruled the league roost gave them nearly every record in the book for penalties, have been penalized fewer times than any other club in the circuit during the current season.

But that is the only distinguishing feature in the play of the battered Bruins, whose 1945 record boasts five straight defeats. The Bears have been called for only twenty-one violations at a cost of 245 yards.

Official league statistics also show that the surprise-filled league race has failed to produce a single touchdown by a punt or kickoff return in 307 chances, while Green Bay has fumbled eleven times in five games equalling its season total last year when the Packers established a new ball-handling record.

The Packers have rolled up the biggest offensive gain, 1675 yards by rushing and passing. The Cleveland Browns, however, are best in the ball-carrying department with under Arnold Kirkland's whip. The Washington Redskins lead in pass completions with a 657 percentage. Green Bay, thanks to Don Hutson's seventy-five points, holds the scoring lead with 173 markers, followed by the Rams with 120, also in five games.

Although the Redskins have yielded only 56 points and 941 total yards gained to lead in those two departments, the Detroit Lions top the league defensively with an average opponents' gain of 22 yards per rush and a 330 percentage of enemy pass completions.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of William H. Rice who was killed Nov. 1, 1936.

The blow was hard, the shock severe, we never thought his death so near; Only those who have lost can tell, The pain of parting, without farewell.

Our love cannot tell how we miss him, Our hearts can not tell what to say, God alone knows how we miss him, In our loneliness home today.

He little thought, when leaving home, That he would never return, That he so soon in death would sleep, And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him, Never shall his memory fade, Loving thoughts will ever wander, To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his wife and children,
